Young Woman Who Poses for the Nude Refuses to Don "Buster Brown" for Dressmakers

THE STYLE SHOW CAUSES GASPS

Big Light Illumines Diaphanous Skirts and Bizarre Costumes Shock the Reporters

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Miss Eloise Brighton, a pretty artist's model with big, soulful eyes and the languorous air that is supposed to linger about studio folk, told interviewers today why she refused to don a "Buster Brown" bathing suit at the National Style show last night, thereby causing a slight hitch in the proceedings.

"Understand," said Miss Brighton, with a nod of her head toward a group of pictures in her room, "understand that I'm no prude. I've posed for a hundred pictures in the "altogether" but understand, it was for the sake of art."

Bare Knees? Not!
"But did you see the 'Buster Brown'? Well, I did, and I told the garment manufacturer that hired me, 'None of that in mine.' Do you suppose I was going to run around the stage down at Orchestra hall with my bare knees exposed? Well, I should say not. They ought to make people that wear those things go to Central Africa."

Aside from Miss Brighton's refusal to parade in the stockinged, low cut, sleeveless, skirtless "Buster Brown," the big show was pronounced a huge success by garment makers today. Society reporters, men reporters and the favored few of the "general public" were still gasping.

Two hundred and fifty models, stroled, cake walked and tangoed about in the marvelous creations of American designers. There were bathing girls, who glided about the stage in bizarre costumes; silhouette girls, tall and willowy, who passed before a big light that illuminated the diaphanous skirts, and American beauties in gorgeous evening gowns.

Suffragettes March
The "suffragette march" was the event of the evening. Fifty charming young women, clad in "suffragette" costumes paraded the stage before the garment makers. Simple tiny and grace combined to make the jackets attractive. Slits in front and behind—co-ordinated to make the skirts at least equally attractive. The "suffragette hat," a high peaked, black moire affair, from the top of which perched a flat black bow of victory, topped the oufit.

LA FOLLETTE URGES SIX CENT TARIFF ON WHEAT FROM CANADA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—That the average cost of production of wheat throughout the United States is not materially different from the average cost in Canada, was declared by Senator LaFollette, in senate discussion on the agricultural schedule today. He showed, by government reports that the production cost in western Canada averages six cents less than that in the northwestern states.
He asked for a six cent tariff on that account.

WILSON PROMISES A CREDIT SYSTEM

Declares Emphatically in Favor of Complete Plan for Rural Credits

SAYS FARMERS NEED THE HELP

Must Have Some Means of Obtaining Money Without Exorbitant Interest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—In an official statement issued from the White house today, President Wilson declared emphatically in favor of "a complete and adequate system of rural credits." The president explained that legislation of this character was not attached to the currency bill now under consideration because there had not been time to work out a perfect plan. He promised, however, to endeavor to secure early action for rural credits from congress.

After explaining at some length the necessity for this explanation and the investigation which has been made by the government commission recently returned from Europe, the president said:

"One of the chief and most serious of these disadvantages has been that the farmer has not been able to secure the extended bank accommodations he every year stands in need of, without paying the most burdensome rates of interest, and saddling himself with mortgages and obligations of every kind which he fairly staggered under, if he could carry them at all. In other countries systems of rural credit have been put into operation which have not only relieved the farmer, but have put him on a footing of easy accomplishment. Our farmers must have similar means afforded them. They must be furnished these facilities before their enterprises languish, not afterwards. And they will be."

pressed today that Germany will returns to Berlin, he will give an audience to Director General Skiff

Sixteen Are Picked Up by Government Launches and Other Boats Nearby

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 13.—Seven of a total of 23 persons thrown into the water were drowned in St. Louis bay on the Superior side today, when a flimsy top, used for seats on the launch Duplaise, gave away. All are from Superior except Miss Goldstein.
Sixteen of the party were picked up by tugs and government launches.
The tug Sinclair came up behind the launch running at high speed, causing an immense swell. The Du-plaise was caught in the swell and the rocking of the boat threw the passengers on the canopy top to one side, causing the supports to break.
The drowned: Mrs. Louis Laske, Miss Nettie Laske, 19 years; Miss Clara Goldstein of Minneapolis, 20 years old; Mrs. Aaron Segal, Bennie Segal, 7 years old; Phillip Segal, 4 years old; Sylvia Segal, 14 years old.

BADGER CIRCUIT OPENS

JANESVILLE, Wis., Aug. 13.— With 160 horses on the ground, the best that the stables of the central west have produced this season, the Wisconsin Grand Circuit races opened today. The program included the 2:18 pace with twenty starters, which forced the management to split the event into two races and divide the purse. Every stall on the grounds is full and a fine week's sport is expected.

FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL BATHROOM

Watch Repairer and Peddler from New York Dies in Boycott
Hotel

William West, 58, watch repairer and peddler, thought to be a resident of Rochester, New York, was found dead in the bath room of the Boycott Hotel at 9 o'clock this morning by Mrs. E. M. Graves, an employee of the hotel. The man had probably been dead for nearly three hours.

West came to La Crosse five weeks ago, engaging a room at the Boycott.
For one day he worked for the Burlington railroad. A few days after coming to the hotel he became ill.
Dr. J. A. Rowles was called and pronounced West's ailments as heart trouble and a serious case of Bright's disease. Dr. Rowles said this morning that heart trouble had caused death.

Since the time West became ill he has been allowed to stay in the hotel, although he had no money.
For the past several days West has been able to leave his room only for a few hours. His death was expected.

About 7 o'clock this morning Mrs. E. Kelly, a roomer in the hotel saw West go from his room to the bath room, and a few moments later she heard him cough. No other sounds were heard. At 9 o'clock, not finding West in his room, Mrs.
Grady went to the bathroom, pushing open the door, which was not locked. West was in a sitting posture, scantily attired, with his head and body leaning against the wall.
Dr. Rowles and the police were called. The only identification aside from the fact that West had stayed at a hotel in San Jose last February, but could not remember whether they had gone to Stockton in January with the two men.

TELLS STORY OF RENO ELOPEMENT

Marsha Warrington Describes in Intimate Detail Her Relations with Diggs

WAS INTRODUCED AS HIS WIFE

Says Prisoner Told Her to Keep Quiet to Save Men from Penitentiary

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 13.— Taking up the story of her relations with Maury I. Diggs, where she interrupted it at yesterday's ad-judgment of court, Miss Marsha Warrington at 11 o'clock today resumed the stand in the trial of Diggs on charge of violating the Mann white slave act.

She sketched briefly the events preceding the arrival of herself, Diggs, Caminetti and Miss Lola Norris at Reno and then said:

"After our arrival at Reno we went to Riverside hotel, where Diggs and I occupied one room and Caminetti and Miss Norris another. Mr.
Diggs introduced me at a real estate office as his wife, when we were trying to locate a bungalow."

Couldn't Mail Letters Miss Warrington declared that after the quartet reached Reno she and Miss Norris wrote letters to some friends, but Diggs would not let them mail them.

"After we had taken the bungal-ow," she continued, "and were installed in it, Diggs and Caminetti told us girls not to leave the house, as we might be seen by some one who knew us. I occupied the north room with Diggs and Lola and Caminetti the south room."

Special Prosecutor Roche was relentless and refused to slur over any of the details of the life of the quarter in Reno. He forced the witness, blushing painfully, to tell everything without reserve. Under his questioning the girl said that her relations with Diggs at Reno had been improper.

After lengthy explanation regarding the three days spent in the bungalow Roche switched to the night the quartet were arrested. Miss Warrington said:

Told to "Keep Quiet"
"When we first heard the officers, Diggs told us girls to say, if the officers asked us about it, that the men occupied one bedroom and we girls another. Warning us to keep quiet about it, Diggs said that it was up to us girls whether the men went to the penitentiary."

Roche asked witness if Diggs did not have a pet name which he called her, and she said: "Yes, he called me, 'Pickles.'"
She then identified the famous "Pickles" letter Diggs is alleged to have written her, enjoining her to keep quiet as everything would come out all right if she did.

Long Auto Trips
Miss Warrington yesterday declared that she met Diggs last September and soon became a very close friend. She and Miss Norris and Diggs and Caminetti, she said, frequently went on long automobile trips. Last March, she testified, Mr.
Diggs told her and Caminetti told Miss Norris that there was a "big scandal" to be published about the four and that if they hoped to avoid exposure they would have to leave town.

She knew Diggs was married and Miss Norris knew Caminetti had a wife and child, she declared, but the men told the girls they would get divorces and marry them. Finally the girls consented to accompany the men to Reno, she said, but only after they had been again threatened with exposure and given promises of marriage.

Roche asked Miss Warrington if she knew Clara Barton of Sacramento, the girl who alleged Diggs and Attorney Harris, his counsel, tried to get Miss Warrington to perjure herself. The witness said Miss Barton had called on her after her return from Reno.

Attorney Cochran, for the defense, took the witness for cross examination and gave early indication that he would be merciless.

Answering his questions the witness said she first introduced to Diggs by a scaboon keeper named Audin.

"Were you introduced by your first name?" asked Cochlin.
"No," replied the girl.
"Didn't you go frequently to road-houses with Diggs?"
"Yes, occasionally."

She added that usually Caminetti accompanied Diggs and that she knew both men were married.

DIES AS RESULT OF OLD INJURY

Wife Finds C. J. Jonson Dead on His Bed at 8 O'Clock This Morning

FRACTURED SKULL FIVE YEARS AGO

Injury Caused by Fall Into Basement Believed
Cause of Sudden Death Today

Apoplexy, induced by a fall five years ago, this morning caused the sudden death of C. J. Jonson, 1726 Winnebago street, president of the A. and C. Johnson Wall Paper company. Mr. Jonson was apparently in good health last night, although he had complained to his wife several times recently of pains about his heart.

Five years ago Mr. Jonson fell down a flight of stairs into the basement of his home, and fractured his skull. For a time he hovered between life and death, but eventually recovered his former health. Dr.
A. Gunderson, who was called this morning, believes that the old injury was the indirect cause of his death.

At about 8 o'clock this morning Mrs. Jonson called her husband.
Not hearing any noise in his room she went to investigate and found him lying across the bed, partly dressed. He had evidently been dead but a short time.

Born in Norway Mr. Jonson was 43 years old. He was born Jan. 13, 1870 near Christiana, Norway. When he was but ten years of age he came to this country with his parents, both of whom have since died. They settled in Chaseburg, Wis., the boy beginning his education there.

With the exception of six years spent on the Pacific coast in the paint business, Jonson has lived here since he was fifteen years of age. His brother, A. Johnson, has been in business here for many years. Mr. Jonson has been superintending the traveling force of the company, and making trips himself. Had he lived he would have started within the next few days on a trip to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Jonson married Miss Anna Johnson, sixteen years ago in West-by. He was a member of the Odd Fellows, and the Sons of Norway. He also belonged to the West Avenue Lutheran church.

Surviving him besides his wife, is one son, Clifford, age 8, three brothers, Anton Johnson, La Crosse; and Andrew and John Johnson of Chaseburg, and three sisters, Mrs.
P. Limoseth and Mrs. William Cunningham of this city and Mrs. Carl Johnson, Minneapolis.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:30 from the West Avenue Lutheran church.
Rev. E. Andersen will officiate. The burial will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

TURKEY THREATENS TO DECLARE WAR

Porte Tells Powers Fight May Be Caused by Bul-gar Atrocities in Thrace

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.— Turkey today threatened to declare war again, because of the alleged atrocities of the Bulgarians in Thrace. The sublime porte in a formally worded note to the powers, delivered through the ambassadors here, strongly protested against the acts of Bulgaria and said that war would be declared against the country, if the powers did not compel Bulgaria to desist.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—In the house of commons yesterday afternoon Foreign Secretary Edward Grey announced that the great powers had agreed on a policy regarding the Aegean islands and autonomy for Albania. He said the powers expected Turkey to heed their wishes in the matter of Adrianople and that the powers had hinted to the Balkan states that there is nothing to prevent them demanding a cash inden-nity from Turkey if the porte disregarded the will of the powers.

DESPITE HIS WIFE'S ATTEMPT TO SHIELD SULZER IS IMPEACHED

GOVERNOR'S WIFE TAKES BLAME TO SHIELD HUSBAND

In Effort to Stave Off Im-

TELLS STORY TO VISITOR AT DAWN

Amid Rain of Tears She Declares She Speculated on Market Without Husband's Knowledge

HAD CHARGE OF FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

Says She Took Burden Off His Shoulders and Specu-lated Because Household Needed Money

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—That she converted part of her husband's campaign fund for stock speculations, and that to her belongs the guilt for the misdemeanors for which her husband was impeached today, was the dramatic confession of Mrs. William Sulzer, the "governor's lady" of New York, made amid tears at dawn this morning to a senator who had come to call upon her husband about a minor state matter.

She was expected during the day to make a formal statement, elaborating her "confession." She may request the privilege of telling her story to the assembly and undoubtedly will be a witness for the defense when the charges against her husband are tried by the senate a month hence.

It was in the very room where last November a brilliant throng gathered to see Governor Sulzer impressively take the oath of office, that in the gray dawn today the name of the governor's wife of five years was injected into the Sulzer embroil.

Told Between Sobs

As the story was unfolded, it was almost melodramatic in its details.
Senator Abraham J. Palmer called at the executive mansion to consult the governor about the unveiling of a monument and when Sulzer had left the room for a moment, Mrs.
Sulzer entered. The story said that with the tears rolling down her cheeks and sobbing convulsively, she told the astounded senator that it was she and not her husband who had used portions of the campaign fund and speculated in Wall street.

She said that she had taken over the entire charge of her husband's financial affairs, because he was so overworked. She thought she could help him best by taking off his shoulders the worry of money matters. She said she deposited all of the campaign checks and admitted that she had used some of the funds "because the household was in need of money."

Hoping to help out, she said, she had invested in some railroad stocks and used some of the campaign money in this way.

Says He Told Truth

Crying as if her heart would break, so the story goes, she said that she did all the speculating and passionately declared that Governor Sulzer was telling the truth the other day when he said he had never heard of the brokerage firms or the stock deals mentioned in the Frawley committee testimony. She said the governor knew nothing of them until she confessed to him after the newspapers printed the evidence.

Mrs. Sulzer declared that Mathew T. Horgan, secretary of the Frawley committee, was fully aware that she endorsed the governor's checks and deposited them. Horgan and his wife at that time were practically members of the Sulzer household and, she asserts, Horgan advised her in financial matters.

At the time of Sulzer's nomination, Mrs. Sulzer explained, the Sulzer finances were at an extremely low ebb.
Sulzer's financial obligations amounted to more than $40,000 and some of them were pressing.

Papers Stolen by Spies

As a climax to her story, Mrs. Sulzer declared that she and her husband had been under a system of constant espionage ever since his nomination, and said that her bank books and many important papers, together with Sulzer's love letters written to her before their marriage, had been stolen.

When Minority Leader Hinman told the outline of Mrs. Sulzer's story to the assemblage in his effort to obtain a delay, the effect was instantaneous. Those who had been asleep or engaged in private conversation, sat up and took notice. The body was galvanized into instant action.

To Test Question
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.— After a few hours' sleep Governor Sulzer walked over to the capitol today with Samuel Bell Thomas, New York friend. The governor puffed vigorously on a big black cigar and waited patiently on the capitol steps while a half dozen photographers worked their instruments rapidly.
"It's a fine breeze," the governor remarked to the newspapermen who wanted his views on the situation.
It was learned, however, that the governor was prepared to test the question as to who is governor in the courts. One of the plans suggested was for him to sign a pardon after Lieut. Gov. Glynn takes charge.
The warden of the prison would refuse to recognize the pardon and the case could then be tested by securing a writ of habeas corpus.

Tammany absentees could arrive, the vote was taken at 5:16 a. m., resulting 79 for impeachment to 45 against.

Formal notice of the impeachment of Governor Sulzer by the assembly was served on the senate when the upper body convened at 3:17 o'clock this afternoon, and the second stage of Tammany's battle royal to remove the governor was on.

The committee appointed by the assembly to prepare the articles of impeachment appeared at the capitol shortly before noon today, bringing with them the formal charges against the governor, set forth in more than five thousand words, which they were prepared to give to the senate as soon as possible after the upper house convened.

As soon as the notification committee of the assembly could formally inform the senate that the governor had been impeached, it was planned to file the articles and simultaneously to provide the governor with a copy of them.

The charges against Governor Sulzer follow closely the report of the Frawley committee and wholly ignore the reported confession of Mrs.
Sulzer, the governor's wife by accounting Sulzer of the stock market

Various attempts were made today by Tammany men to ex-

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

JACK'S WIFE

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The Caledonia plowed its way steadily over a calm, sunlit sea.

George Landis scowled heavily at each new passenger rounded the after deck and came within his vision.

Mostly he glowered at the masculine seagoers because they were free to enter the smoke room and stay there as long as they wished. He, Landis, had intended to have a nice, uninterrupted crossing spent in the smoke room, spinning yarns or playing cards. Instead, he was stationed out on deck in an abominable steamer chair keeping a wary eye out for Jack Gardner's wife.

Landis' brow lowered more ominously as he recalled Gardner's words when he had discovered that the same steamer was to convey both Landis and his wife to the Scotch shore.

"You can't miss her, Landis, because Ethel is the most beautiful woman in the world, and the kiddie the most wonderful child. Ethel wears one of those plush coats—you can pick her out by that." Jack had smiled happily and added: "Just keep an eye on her—she is a bit of a flirt."

"Ravings of a married idiot," mused Landis, then drew a swift breath.

A figure in a plush coat had rounded the after deck. At least Landis supposed the coat to be plush; it was something soft and silky against which a face of radiant beauty gleamed like a cameo.

"Jack's wife," ejaculated Landis under his breath, and decided instantly to have nothing to do with Ethel Gardner. "She is far too beautiful to trifle with," he added mentally.

He watched the girl and the wonderful child—for the child was also there—until they had found a steamer chair at the far end of the deck.
After that he leaned back and wondered not that his heart was beating a dull thud against his Shetland waistcoat.

"She is enough to make an iron heart miss a beat!" he decided, and then ruminated gloomily on Jack Gardner's luck. "What has Gardner done to deserve a fate like that?" he questioned, and found the query unanswerable.

Landis settled back in his chair with half shut eyes and pictured the girl who had set his pulses beating.
Even at the far end of the deck her hair gleamed red gold in the sun; her eyes were gray and the long lashes gave them the effect of having been pressed in by smutty fingers. Landis turned resolutely toward the stern of the boat and remembered that the girl was another man's wife.

During the entire afternoon Landis stayed on deck. The smoke room had lost its appeal.

Much to his astonishment he watched the girl with the red hair talking to a constant stream of very evident admirers. The sturdy, beautiful boy she carried was a splendid lure. Every one on board felt perfectly free to break the ice of reserve through him.

As the afternoon wore away it seemed as if Landis alone had failed to admire Jack Gardner's baby.
Since the passenger list was large he felt conspicuous by his neglect. He shut his teeth grimly and wondered whether or not Gardner was to be envied.

"If she were mine," he realized mentally, "I would take her across the ocean in a private yacht. I do not care for that string of cavaliers." Landis smiled whimsically and knew that he even envied the wonderful child whose sunny head rested against the plush coat.

They were three days out to sea before the unexpected happened. It had seemed as if the girl looked more often toward Landis, but he had turned resolutely aside.

"She is a bit of a flirt," he quoted from Gardner.

But the day of the big storm Landis was unable to avoid her. The decks were cleared of all unseaworthy admirers and she alone seemed able to be about and on deck. One or two splendid sailors were clinging to the ropes and gazing at the ocean in one of her mad moods. Landis watched the girl in the plush coat and wondered if the mockery ever left her eyes.

He was standing at the forward deck railing when the girl was flung suddenly into his arms. Whether it was a maneuver of her own or merely one belonging to the wonderful elements Landis never knew. He only knew that she was clinging to him and that her face was radiant with the soft spray, and that her hair was sweeping in maddened tendrils close to his shoulder.

"I am so sorry," she said, and Landis knew from the sparkle of her eyes that she was not one whit sorry.
"That is not so," he told her with unexpected boldness. "I believe you are glad." He reluctantly set her on her feet and commanded her to hold fast to the ropes. "You should have been hatched down, anyway."

"I would not miss a sight like this for anything," she put in quickly.

"Is that a plush coat?" questioned Landis irrelevantly.

The girl laughed.

"To the masculine eye—yes. To the feminine—sealskin." She answered promptly, but with questioning eyes.

"And are you the most beautiful woman in the world?" Landis pursued doggedly and reviled in the blush that followed.

"Not!" she returned swiftly.

"And you are Jack Gardner's wife?" accused Landis.

The girl smiled mockingly and deliberately let another whim of the elements blow her against Landis.
When he had given her her balance she raised heavy lashes and remained silent.

"Are you going to answer me?" demanded Landis.

"I think it is not in the least bit necessary," the girl said.

"But you have on a plush coat, you are the most beautiful woman in the world, and a wonderful kiddie is always with you. Also—you are more than a bit of a flirt. All of these attributes belong to Gardner's wife."

The girl turned swiftly and flashed a defiant glance at him. She would have slipped from him had not Landis caught her quickly with an iron grip.

"Well?" he demanded.

"I am Jack's wife's sister and I am not married," she told him, and her heavy lashes concealed the expression of her eyes.

"The former part of your answer pleases me," Landis told her with swift laughter, "the latter part—we can alter."

SPARTA, WIS.

Brakeman Peterson of the Northwestern railroad missed death by a narrow margin last Saturday night in Sparta when he missed his footing when trying to step on the front end of a swiftly moving engine.

Night freight, No. 482 from Winona to Wyeville was switching in the yards. Peterson was a member of the crew. As he stepped on the cow catcher one foot caught under an unprotected tie spike and the front wheel of the engine went over it.

The injured man's body was rapidly being drawn under the train and he would have been crushed to death had not the engineer stopped the train.

The company's local physicians were called to the depot where they dressed the wounds and removed the torn flesh from the foot. The injured man was taken to Wyeville, where he resides. It is thought that he will recover and retain the foot.

Ex-Mayor W. N. Wells was a business visitor in Madison Friday.

District Attorney A. H. Smith of Lincoln county came down from Mer-riell Friday afternoon accompanied by his son Philip. He was on his way down to the big picnic in the Cholin grove south of Wilton.

Much indignation was aroused Saturday afternoon by the actions of certain members of Battery D of the artillery which is located at the range this summer. A drunken driver was driving a half broken four mule team, hooked to an army wagon, through the streets, abusing the mules and frightening women and children and jeopardizing the lives of pedestrians. Officer Sullivan, after warning the man, undertook to arrest him. The driver refused to leave his seat on the army wagon, and as Officer Sullivan started to mount the wagon after the driver, a sergeant sprung his horse up and deliberately rode into the officer, crowding him down and trying to push him down the elevator well at the rear of the Dodge & Davis store. The plucky policeman held his ground, however, and succeeded in arresting the driver, whom he was after, but the sergeant got away and immediately skipped for camp. A number of persons witnessed the incident and the police have a good description of the sergeant, so it will be only a matter of a few hours until he is safe in the jail. Chief of Police Waring has gone to the range and will bring in his prisoner tonight. This is the first trouble there has been this summer.

The baseball game yesterday resulted in a score of 14 to 2 in favor of the Hawaiians.

T. E. Morgan at Cataract spent yesterday in the city on his way to La Crosse.

iting friends and relatives in the city.

Arthur R. Nichols and family will occupy the Teasdale residence at the corner of Myrtle street and Central avenue.

Mr. J. P. Taylor is entertaining his sister from Necedah.

Attorney Henry C. Rowan of Elroy was a business visitor in the city Friday evening.

James Reardon of Tomah is in the county jail charged with attempted rape.

Mrs. O. J. Jackson entertained the H. S. club Friday afternoon.

BADGER LUMBER IS SENT TO ENGLAND

COUDERAY, Wis., Aug. 13.— Several car loads of timber cut on the Thornapple river, near the John Dietz farm at Cameron dam, have just been shipped from Winter to Liverpool, England. The timbers were of enormous size, being 48 feet long and 16 inches square at the top and will be used for shipbuilding.

They brought a high price, as tim-

How to Heal a Stubborn Abscess

A Home Method Sure to Re-

Health.

Do not cover any external sore so as to interfere with perspiration and the formation of protective scabs. Keep it clean and bandaged. If it is a stubborn case, flush your blood with S. S. S.
This famous blood purifier works wonders. And you can easily give your blood good, thorough cleansing by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be dependent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to constructive medicine than ever before, and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line.

Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your abscess is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the Medical Dept.,

PRAIRIE ELECTRIC PLANT DESTROYED

Down-river City Cut Off from Light and Power by Fire Yesterday

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Aug.
13.—Fire destroyed the Prairie City Electric company's plant Tuesday afternoon, the alarm being turned in at 2:15 o'clock. By 4 o'clock nothing remained but the concrete smokestack, the charred timbers of one end of the building and part of the machinery.

The plant was in operation, as there has been a regular Tuesday service for several years and the fire is said to have started from an overheated boiler. The flames spread with great rapidity and burned with terrific force, consuming a supply of coal and oil which added to the conflagration.

The building is entirely destroyed and the two dynamos, one large and one small, are both ruined by the flames. It is thought that the engine and boilers may be repaired for further use, but it will be many weeks before Prairie du Chien will have electric service again.

The problem of lighting the town in the meantime is now up for consideration. The supply of lamps and candles carried by local dealers was quickly bought out before the close of the afternoon. Private families are able to find the necessary lights for their homes, but the hotels, sanitariums and stores will be seriously inconvenienced for a time.

There is no other business in the town whose loss would be so much noticed by so large a number of the residents.

It is only a few days since a ruling was made by the railway rate commission providing a twenty-four hour electric service for Prairie du Chien.

Mrs. J. E. Sizer of Sturgeon Bay, state organizer of the W. C. T. U., is in the city, the guest of Mrs. J. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Jule Vernon are in charge of the Dousman house this week, while Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carroll are away on a week's vacation.

Miss Cora Stuart, who has a two weeks' vacation from her duties as bookkeeper in the Dundon meat market, is now the guest of friends at Prairie du Sac and will visit at Barnum and Eastman before returning home.

Mrs. Jay Ryder and children of La Crosse are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ryder on Church street.

Miss Eva Chase is home for a two weeks' vacation from her work as saleslady in a St. Paines, Minn., department store.

Walter Schweizer is reported seriously ill at the family home in the Third ward.

Louis Ruka of Boscobel is spending a few days in Prairie du Chien.

Mrs. Ed Kunzman has returned from a visit of several weeks with relatives in Minneapolis.

Will Schweizer was home from La Crosse to spend Sunday with his family.

Sigvard Arneson of Decorah came to join a party of friends on the Sydney excursion Monday evening.

Roy Hurley is taking an enforced vacation from his work in the Red Crosse pharmacy owing to a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Mrs. W. T. Pinkerton is visiting in Platteville at the home of her daughter, Mrs. David Gardner.

Miss Alice Stuart is spending a

SPOTLIGHTS

THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS

Occasionally some play strikes a note that rings out clear and true in the midst of the commonplace and impresses its auditor with the thought that it was written not for gain, not for pastime, but because some man had something to say to other men and he took this means of expression.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his novel of the same name, is this kind of a play. Mr. Wright had felt within his soul the peace and beauty of the hills and he wished to set down their meaning before him. He made a play that in plot is compelling, one that never fails in sincerity.
The people who move in it are so human that the auditor will pick them out for like and dislike as if he really knows them.

There is the shepherd, the man who came to the hills to learn, and remained to teach; Old Matt, who cherished the memory of a wrong that could never be righted; Young Matt, a Hercules of the hills, country whose strength of heart and soul equaled the strength of his body; Sammy Lane, bright and buoyant with the youth of the hill country, and the other quaint characters that enliven the play with humor.

The scene of the play is in the high hills of the Ozark mountains.
The mists of the valleys, the glories of the sunsets, the magnificent vistas from the summits have been brought out by the wonderful ingenity of the scenic artist and elec-trician's craft. It is the spirit of the land that makes the play one that is unique and one that will stand in a field of its own.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" will be the attraction at the La Crosse Theater commencing Aug. 17, matinee and night.

A Diplomat.

"I say, father," queried little Johnny,
"what's a diplomat?"

"A diplomat, my son," replied the old man, "is a person who doesn't mean what he means others to think he means."

marries his stenographer he ceases

TAMMANY'S KETTLE AND SULZER'S POT

The New York newspapers make no secret of the fact that they believe Governor Sulzer guilty of the charges made against him, and with an adverse legislature dominated by Tammany influence the outcome of the impeachment proceedings would not necessarily fall even though the evidence were not conclusive. A deserter from Tammany, Sulzer may well expect to feel the malignant lash of "love to hatred turned." The press of his city, including that portion that was friendly to him, is quite unanimous in its resentment of his alleged misconduct.

No doubt the "true inwardness" of the situation was told yesterday in the following editorial from the "World."

"The Sulzer scandal is no less an exposure of the governor than of Tammany hall. It is the most convincing object lesson on government by blackmail that New York has ever known.

"Mr. Sulzer has not been destroyed because he pocketed campaign contributions or because he failed to make the accounting that the law commands or because he uses the money to carry on his Wall street operations. Those are all traditional Tammany practices. Tammany candidates no less than Tammany bosses are expected to pocket as much of the campaign fund as they can with safety.

"Tammany has exhibited the governor to public shame and disgrace only because he broke with the organization and refused to take further orders from Murphy. If he had not attempted to be governor in fact as well as in name, if he had not resisted the looting of the state, if he had not reached out for indictments Tammany would have protected him.
"The Sulzer scandal ought to drive Mr. Sulzer from the governorship, but it ought to destroy Tammany hall."

We cannot share the hope of the "World." If indeed it dares hope, that this shady incident will destroy that reprehensible institution. Tammany has ever been open and brazen in its corruption, and the dishonor of revelations of campaign fund loot-ing will hardly deepen the shadow of public disgrace that lies upon it.

Tammany can loot and laugh, and destroy predatory individuals with mock protestations of piety the farcical character of which it dares display with wanton insolence.

A WISP OF HAIR

Greatness has its rewards even if they do generally come after the famous one is occupying his six feet of earth and has ceased taking any interest in events. For instance there was George Washington. When George was alive and was trying to run this country to the best of his ability he did not lead a life of unadulterated joy and bliss. The old Tory party did more to him than the Republicans are trying to do to Mr.
Bryan today and he was kept so busy explaining that he hardly had time to be president. They even accused him of being a tax dodger.

But just recently in Paris, a collector paid $4,800 for a small lock of George Washington's hair. It was a mere wisp. If George could have marketed his hair at that price while he was alive, he would have been a millionaire, for George had a large lock of very red hair under his powdered wig. But when he was alive Washington could not have sold a bushel of his hair for ten cents.

There seems to be a lesson in this.
Great men should save up their hair to be sold in wisps for the benefit of their descendants. Of course this advice will do Mr. Rockefeller very little good and Mr. Mellen of the Hartford railroad cannot profit by it to any great extent. Mr. Bryan should begin saving his hair soon because the bald spot on the apex of his dome of thought is expanding like a pancake that is being poured on a hot griddle. The colonel still has time to save up about $500,000 worth of hair at Washington rates and Dr. Munyon, Buffalo Bill and Elbert Hubbard may lay aside several million dollars' worth at the present writing.

The sale of Washington's hair should also help the hair restorer business some in this country, for the great men will doubtless take cognizance of the Washington hair incident and prepare for the future.

June bridegrooms are just beginning to learn that it does not pay to subscribe to any sort of periodical that contains new cake or salad recipes.

Babylon had a bankruptcy law 2, 300 B. C. Thus the record of civilization shows that the wives of that ancient city were swell dressers.

Instances of bigamy are getting so common that they excite just about as much interest as a notice to cut weeds.

PREDICT CAR SHORTAGE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13.—A big car shortage which may be a repetition of that of 1907, is impending, according to a warning to shippers issued by twenty-two leading railroads of the southwest.

While the corn crop is not expected to be up to the average, reports from the wheat states indicate that the wheat movement will be as heavy as usual. As corn does not figure as important part in shipping, due to the fact that much of it is fed, traffic managers estimate the products to be moved as normal. Failure of the companies to order new rolling stock for this year is the main reason assigned for the shortage.

DRINKS POISON ON FERRY

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 12.—The police today are making an effort to confirm reports that Eleanor Fay, who attempted to commit suicide by swallowing poison on a ferry boat last night, is the divorced wife of a former United States government official. She is recovering in a local hospital.

No Promotion

The late Bishop Doane of Albany, a strict conservative, had his own views as to woman's place in the world. No feminist this good Tory bishop, no advocate of militancy, no exponent of Ellen Key, or Bernard Shaw, are "newness" of any sort.
Bishop Doane believed in marriage of the real old fashioned kind, and to bridegrooms at weddings he used sometimes to make a little speech.
"My young friend," he would say to the pale and nervous bridegroom, patting him on the back, "you are now embarking on a long, hazardous voyage, and I bid you remember the Finnish proverb:
"For the Finnish sailors have a proverb to this effect:
"The man who on the ship of matrimony signs as mate will never get promoted."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Ambition
Let others work and lose their health
In piling up the sordid wealth, But that is not my wish.
Let others burn the midnight oils, Devising ways of grabbing spoils;
I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others solve the problems great, Affecting the affairs of state;
None of that on my dish.
Let others hew the nation's path And bear the thankless public's wrath,
I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others lead the strenuous life That's full of worry, toil and strife, But that's not my ambition.
Let others wear their lives away, By living five years every day;
I'd rather sit and fish.

His Varied Spelling
An uneducated Scotchman made a fortune. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan.
"Say, Duncan, you don't know enough to go in when it rains. Why, you can't even spell 'bird.'"
"B-u-r-d," said Duncan.
"I tell you you don't know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell 'bird.'" "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan.

After the money was put up, Duncan said, "B-i-r-d."
"That ain't the way you spelled it the first time."
"I wasna bettin' then."

Going Down
Rev. Charles F. Reisner of New York, who blames the appalling railroad wrecks of modern times upon moral irresponsibility of the millionaire stockholder, said the other day in New York:

"It isn't, after all, an unmixed blessing to be rich. Wealth has a tendency to make us vain and hard." With a smile he added:
"Money makes the mare go, but there is good cause for fear as to her ultimate destination."

Taking the Safe Side

A tall, gaunt looking man entered a hotel in the Willamette not long ago and applied for a room. The price he was willing to pay entitled him to lodging on the top floor of the house.
Among his belongings the proprietor noticed a coil of rope. Upon being asked what the rope was for, the man replied:

"That's a fire escape. I always carry it with me, and in case of fire I let myself down from the window."
"Yes," replied the landlord, stroking his chin reflectively, "seems like a pretty good idea; but guests with fire escapes pay in advance at this hotel."—Everybody's Magazine.

To, To, To

An old lady on the train had worried the brakeman pretty nearly to death with questions all the way down the line. Finally, as the train came to a halt at a little tank station, she inquired:

"Say, Mr. Brakeman, how long does this train stay here?" He saw his chance to get even, and replied: "Stops here four minutes—from two to two to two two."
And he wore a quiet grin as he observed the old lady trying to repeat what he had told her without whistling.

A Marvel of Modesty

"A Scotch preacher had been abroad, and when he came back he was preaching to his congregation on the marvels he had seen," said Rev. W. T. Dorward of the Milwaukee Tabernacle Baptist church, at a banquet the other night.
"He wound up with this: 'And the same Creator who made the vast ocean made the dewdrop. The same Creator who made the mountain made the pebble. Yes, and that same Creator who made me made a daisy!'"

"That's a pretty thing to say, an' I hope you mean it," replied Rosalie. "But I ain't askin' for myself. I'm askin' for Mrs. Hanska."
"What has happened?" asked Betsy-Barbara, her color departing with a rush. "Has Constance—" "Constance is perfectly all right," reassured Rosalie. "She was tryin' to read—poor thing—when I left her fifteen minutes ago. But I've got my answer, you would."
"I think I would give my life if it would help now," said Betsy-Barbara.
"What I'm askin' then," continued Rosalie Le Grange, "may seem only a little thing. But it's important. I can't tell you how important. It may save him—you know, Mr. Wade—if you play your cards right."

Betsy-Barbara was on her feet now.

"What is it, Quick?" she asked. "Not beatin' about the bush," replied Rosalie Le Grange. "I want you to spend the day flirtn' perfectly outrageous with Mr. Estrilla."

In spite of herself, Betsy-Barbara let her pink blond coloring suffuse her cheeks. But the color flowed back as her mind leaped from circumstance to circumstance and rested on a suspicion.

"What has he—" she said under her breath, "what has he to do with the Hanska case?"
"Nothin' much—himself," said Rosalie, indifferently, "but a great deal to do with solving it. An' it's important that he should be delivered at just the right time—as a kind of witness."

A new idea widened Betsy-Barbara's eyes and made soft and wondering the little mouth of her.

"And what have you?" she whispered. "Have you—all this time—and I never suspected?"
"Now don't go cuttin' corners an' guessin'," said Rosalie Le Grange. "I've been doin' my part. Don't ask me any more, please. I'm just bustin' to tell. I'm an old fool with my tongue, an' if I spring the littles leak in a secret it all comes tumblin' out. Remember what I've told you. First, you can help save Mr. Wade as nobody else can. Next, don't ask any questions. An' Betsy-Barbara Lane, now I'm gettin' solemn. I want you to hold up your right hand an' swear somethin' on your honor—that you won't tell anybody—anybody—about this until I let you."

But now the shade of suspicion flashed across Betsy-Barbara's face. Rosalie caught it and formed her answer mentally before her pretty junior spoke.
"Suppose," said Betsy-Barbara—"I beg your pardon, Mrs. Le Grange, but one must watch everything in a time like this—suppose you were working for the other side?"
"In case you ever found that out," said Rosalie, "your oath is all off. Goodness me!"—and now her emotion was real—"do I look like a traitor or anything of that sort? Haven't I helped Mrs. Hanska every way I could? You're a woman, Betsy-Barbara, an' you know me by this time. Am I that kind?"

"No," replied Betsy-Barbara. "You are not." And with an air of pretty solemnity, she swore it.

"If I was a man," said Rosalie Le Grange, "I could just eat you up when you look that way. Now we're goin' straight to business. It is a quarter of ten. Has Mrs. Hanska any date today?"

"She was going to her lawyer's at eleven o'clock."

"Let her do that; but first you're to see her and tell her that she mustn't come home afterwards. Let her go anywhere except home. An' after you've done what I want you to do, you'll meet her somewhere an' take her to dinner at—the Hotel Hamblen. That's a respectable out-of-the-way place. Got that?"

"Then after you've seen Mrs. Hanska, you'll rest a while. And at two-thirty sharp you're to be waiting by the Carlisle Trust Building. It's got only one entrance, which is lucky. And you can hardly miss."

"For—him?"

"For Mr. Estrilla. This is no time to make any bones of anything. He's crazy over you. He has an engagement there for two-thirty. Let him go in. He probably won't stay more than fifteen minutes. You're to meet him at the front of the elevator. You're to encourage him—you know. If he asks you to take a walk, which he probably will, you accept, and start him toward the park. This is the point. At five o'clock sharp, you're to have him takin' tea with you in the Park Casino—you know where that is, don't you? An' you're not to leave until half past five. Probably I'll be there long before that—your job you understand is to deliver him to me—that's what all this is for, mostly. Then you're to meet Constance."

Mrs. Hanska—as I told you. Wait a minute—"Rosalie paused, frozen immobile on the birth of a new thought—"have her pack a suit case and take it with her. You two register at the Hotel Hamblen an' stay there tonight—stay right there until you hear from me. Got all that? Well, repeat it after me."

Betsy-Barbara repeated it slowly. "But how can I get him to tea if he doesn't ask me," she objected.

"Where I was raised, a young woman passin' a soda fountain with a young man, neve went thirsty unless she wanted to. Get him in if you have to invite him yourself. I know you, Betsy-Barbara. But don't you be yourself today. Let him make love as hard as he wants—just this once."

The door rattled; Tommy North was back.

"Mr. North," said Rosalie, "I'm borrowin' your office help for the day. We want you to do somethin' for us. You don't understand now, but you will. Don't you go near my house until tomorrow. You sleep out tonight an' breakfast out tomorrow. I can give you a rebate if you demand it," she pursued, dimpling on hip.

"All right, take it out of that first week's board you stung me so hard for," laughed Tommy North. Then his eyes sought Betsy-Barbara's with a troubled look. "What's the answer?" he asked.

"There's no answer," said Rosalie Le Grange; "not just at present. Except you'll be glad you did it—an' I'll explain some day myself. Go where you want tonight. Only don't get drunk."

"Oh, he won't do that, of course!"

put in Betsy-Barbara.

Which defensive assurance quite restored the spirits of Tommy North and the smile came back to his face.

"But promise us one thing—you will never say a word to anybody about this," put in Rosalie.

"I promise," said Tommy, as solemnly as he could, considering that his heart danced. She had taken up the cudgels for him!

REACHES THE CITY ON LENGTHY TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Kendall of Chicago to Cover 5,000 Miles in Tiny Brush Car

After traveling a total of almost 2,500 miles, C. P. Kendall and wife of Chicago, Ill., arrived in the city Monday afternoon on tour during the course of which they will cover Minnesota and North Dakota, as well as Wisconsin. Mr. Kendall said this morning that he expected to travel approximately 5,000 miles before he completes his tour.

Mr. Kendall, who is representing the Standard and the American Baptist Publication society, is working in the interests of his company. He is combining business with a trip to view the scenery in the country through which he is passing. He is traveling in a Brush automobile which has been running well in spite of poor roads.

On June 26 Mr. and Mrs. Kendall left Detroit, where they had been attending a convention. In covering his territory Mr. Kendall has been forced to travel by a roundabout route. He went to many cities in Michigan and Illinois before reaching Chicago about a week ago.

"We had little or no trouble with the machine with the exception of a little tire trouble," said Mr. Kendall today. "The auto ran smoothly although the roads were poor. Up to the time we reached Baraboo the roads were fairly good but from there on the roads were bad owing to the rain. We had no mud chains on the machine and this made traveling difficult."

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall have had a pleasant trip thus far and they will remain in the city for a short time before starting on the trip through Minnesota and North Dakota. They are staying on the north side while in the city.

NELSONS VICTORS IN TEN STRAIGHT

The Nelson Clothing company indoor baseball club won its tenth straight victory yesterday when Moore's Colts bowed in defeat to them by the count of 6 to 2. Putting up a good game behind Knutson, who fanned seventeen of the opposing batters, the Nelsons clearly outplayed their rivals. J. Bettin, on the slab for the Colts, also twirled well. A home run smash by Clow and the fielding of Burgenmeyer at shortstop, who handled six chances without an error, were the features of the battle. Score: R H E Nelsons 6 10 1 Colts 2 1 3.

Batteries—Knutson and Clow; J. Bettin and S. Bettin.

Other games played at Copeland park yesterday resulted in an easy victory for the Goldbirds over the Rangers 1 to 1, while the Champs beat the Q Kids by a 6 to 4 count in a fast and interesting game. As a result of the latter game these two teams are now tied for the leadership of the Midget league.

DOWLING EMBARKS FROM NEW YORK

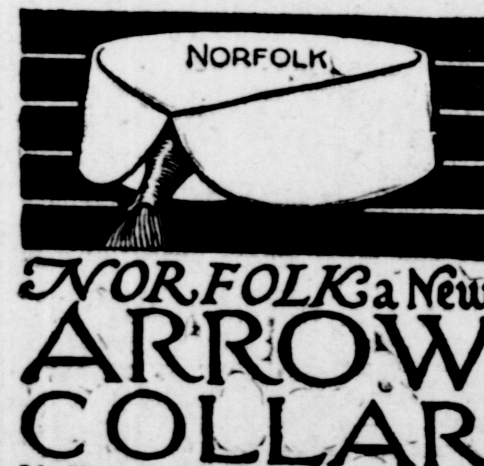

Tom Dowling, the well known North side young man who left La Crosse last week for Europe, has sailed according to word received by friends in the city. Dowling left the city last week and a postal card from New York which was dated last Saturday stated that he was going to sail that afternoon for Liverpool, England, on board the steamer Baltic of the American line. He expects to visit many of the large cities and points of interest in England and on the continent and will not return to the city for some time.

HOBOS HAVE GONE

The number of hoboes on the north side has been greatly decreased during the past month and the officers on the north side say that they have almost rid that part of town of the knights of the road. Occasionally a small party of hoboes is located, but within the last week the police have been bothered in this way hardly at all. A short time ago the patrolmen on the north side were kept busy giving the hoboes the order to move on.

The spectacle was the most brilliant presented since the thirty-second triennial of the convocation began. The largest number of teams entered in any previous convocation was eight. It will require two days of drilling to dispose of all the maneuvers and evolutions on the program.

To the best drilled team will go the coveted solid silver twelve gallon punch bowl with thirty cups and ladle. It is worth $5,000 and is one of the largest made. It is beautifully engraved and etched with scenes of Colorado. The second prize, a silver loving cup four feet high, cost, $2,500. There are a dozen other magnificent prizes.

The Detroit organization is the best known drilling association in the country. Fifty-one of the knights are more than six feet tall. They cannot compete for prizes, a state law prohibiting it. One of tonight's features will be a concert by a cowboy band of 100 pieces from Fort Dodge, Kansas, the same that led the parade in the Templar convocation held in Denver twenty-one years ago.

OWNER CLAIMS LOST 'SPANIEL

The little brown water spaniel which had strayed from its home and was kept by Patrolman Frank Groeschner at N. 2 police station, was claimed by its owner this morning. Knute Myklebust, 1827 Kane street, owns the dog and he claimed it this morning, explaining that he had been ill for some time and the dog had strayed from his home because he had been unable to look after it during his illness. All day yesterday the officers at No. 2 station were kept busy answering telephone calls from people who said they would like to get the dog if its owner did not claim it.

MILWAUKEE MEET ADJOURNS TODAY

Federation of Catholic Societies Convention Ends with an Excursion

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 13.—After hearing the reports of the ways and means, finance and nominating committees, the American Federation of Catholic societies adjourned today.
The delegates went at once to the lake front, and boarded a steamer for an afternoon excursion. Spurred by the revelations of Archbishop Bush of Lead, S. D., on the conditions of the miners working in the Homestake mine at Lead, the convention today sent Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, principal stockholder in the mine, the president of the corporation, and the mine superintendent a telegram asking that the miners be given a six day week. A world federation of Catholics and improvement of the condition of Catholics in the Philippines was recommended; the teaching of sex hygiene in the public schools denounced, and immoral dances condemned by the federation.
While the Catholic federation has been in session the Catholic Press association has been holding its annual convention in nearby buildings. E. J.
Conney of Providence, R. I., presided at the sessions.

Holmen Man Hurt in Auto Smash Semi-conscious with a Fractured Skull

Melvin Halderson, prominent lum-men, is in a serious condition as a result of the automobile accident of yesterday afternoon between the north side and Onalaska, when their machine swerved from the road and struck a telephone pole.

Physicians worked over them for several hours. Halderson did not regain consciousness for some time.
He has been in a semi-comatose con-to be fractured and his body is bruised in several places. Physicians have not determined whether there are any internal injuries or not.

Black is conscious but in a serious way. His knee was found to be fractured and his arm and face cut and bruised.

The Women's Business club of Cincinnati has decided that $3 a week is the lowest living wage for self supporting women in that city. They have apportioned expenditures: Board, $4; laundry, 50 cents; clothes, $1.50 per week; luncheon, 90 cents; care, 60 cents; emergencies, 50 cents—a total of $8—and as that is the wage of a majority of the young business women there is nothing left for saving, recreation, illness, etc.

Through the efforts of the Child Hygiene association, a number of Little Mothers' leagues have been established in the congested districts of Philadelphia. Classes are held at which little girls are instructed in the dressing, handling and care of babies and smaller children. Lifelike dolls are used for demonstration purposes.

A graduated scale and minimum wage for women has been fixed for operators in the shoe trade in Stafford, Eng., which assures an average increase in wages of about 30 per cent.

MINOT PREPARES FOR I. W. W. RIOTS

Expect Repetition of Sunday's Free Speech Trouble in Dakota
City

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 13.—With the beginning of the trial of Arthur Le-seur, former city commissioner, and Dewey Dorman, one of the present commissioners, feeling among the Industrial Workers of the World, is running high today and a repetition of Sunday's free speech rioting is expected almost any moment.

The bitterness toward the citizens and authorities of Minot was increased late yesterday when the sheriff and a posse went to the edge of town where fifty-nine industrialists were encamped and drove the entire aggregation nine miles west to the Burlington railroad, where they were warned to stay away from Minot.

Trouble which had been expected to break loose last night was headed off by a severe electrical storm. It is thought that the departed I. W. W.'s will return to Minot tonight and engage in a finish fight. There are now seventy-nine men held in jail here as a result of recent riots.

JOHN C. BURNS ON ANNUAL FISH TRIP

John C. Burns, local member of the state fish commission, is accompanying the commission on its annual tour of inspection. The commission met in Milwaukee Monday and began the trip, which occupies an entire week and includes a visit to every hatchery in the state. It is understood that this year the commission is casting a tentative eye about for a suitable and economical place for a new hatchery.

HOW CAMILLE DE VERLAC BECAME FAMOUS FOR THE BEAUTY OF HER HANDS AND ARMS

Free Prescription That Can Be Prepared At Home.

Camille de Verlac, famous for the beauty of her hands and arms, in a recent interview says: "If every woman knew about the prescription that has caused all this talk about my hands and arms they could make their hands and arms just as beautiful as mine. I am glad to have the opportunity to give my recipe free to the world. It will help every woman to improve her personal appearance." When I asked her if she would allow me to publish the prescription, she quickly answered:
"Certainly, only too glad to have you do it." Turning to a desk, she wrote it on a slip of paper and handed it to me. Here it is: "Go to any drug store, get a one-ounce bottle of Ku-lux compound. Pour the entire contents into a two-ounce bottle, add quarter ounce witch hazel, then fill with water. Apply night and morning. This prescription gives the skin a velvety softness and obliterates all defects such as freckles, tan, sun spots, roughness and ruddiness. A single application works a marvelous transformation." It can be applied to the neck and shoulders with equally gratifying results. It is absolutely harmless and will positively not stimulate or produce a growth of hair. It is deliciously cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. It will not rub off.

DENIES MULHALL TALE

EMERY DECLARES ALLEGA-TIONS ARE FALSE BUT AD-MITS PAYING MONEY TO HOUSE EMPLOYEES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A series of vigorous denials of the many charges of insidious lobby activities of the National Association of Manufacturers, made by Martin M. Mul-hall, confessed N. A. M. lobbyist, livened today's session of the lobby investigation committee.

James A. Emery, chief counsel for the manufacturers' organization, emphatically repudiated Mulhall's charge that the N. A. M. maintained house employees on its pay roll; possessed a secret conference and information room in the capitol; attempted to "fix" the house judiciary committee and unhesitatingly rebuked members of congress for not coinciding with N. A. M. views on certain legislation.

Emery admitted that his association used congressional franks to distribute literature in political campaigns and had also at one time paid J. H. McMichael, chief page of the house, $15 monthly to take Mul-hall's place in watching committee changes.

Emery admitted giving checks to house committee messengers for "courtesies extended him."

KILLS WOMAN AND SELF

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Lola M. Clymie, 45, wife of John H. Cly-mie, 231 South Sangamon street, was shot and killed early today by Henry Blissen, 50, 1017 South Green street, a night watchman, who fired a bullet into his own heart and ended his life when he saw a crowd rushing to the scene of the shooting.
The police theory is that Blissen made advances to Mrs. Clymie, was repulsed and then committed the double killing.

TRAMP STABS MAN FOR ORDER TO MOVE

Ed Patterson Cut in Arm by Man He Attempted to Take from Steps of Murphy Barn

A man giving the name of Patrick Donnelly is being held by the police for the alleged stabbing at 10 o'clock last night of Ed Patterson, night barn boss employed at the Murphy barn on Vine street.

According to the story told the police by Patterson, Donnelly had been drinking and insisted that he be allowed to occupy the steps in front of the barn office. Repeated orders to get out were unavailing.

Patterson says he was on the sidewalk in front of the barn and started into the office to answer the telephone.

"Get out of here," he says he told Donnelly.

"I want to get to the Milwaukee depot," he claims Donnelly answered.

Patterson says he took hold of the man's arm to lead him away from the steps when, without warning the stranger swung a knife, inflicting a bad gash in Patterson's arm.

PLAYGROUNDS PLAN RIVER EXCURSIONS

The city playgrounds, under the direction of Fred Dickens, will hold two river excursions next Wednesday. The steamer Sidney has been chartered for the day, and will leave the foot of Main street at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, going as far as Winona, and returning at 7 o'clock.
The moonlight trip will start at 8 o'clock, going over the same route and will return at 11:30. The three city playgrounds will join hands on next Wednesday. Director Dickens has had the project in mind for some time and has planned to make the day a memorable one for his charges and for the public. He has arranged to have several of his star athletes perform in games, to allow the public a chance to have a glimpse of them in action. Dancing will be participated in on both trips.

FOLLOW ALLEGED SLAYER BY CAR

Yellow Racer for Which Crime Is Said to Have Been Committed, to Bring Capture

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 13.—Gus T. Penman, young Champaign county motorist, who is charged with the murder of his friend, Harold A.
Shaw of Urbana, is being traced through Ohio.

"Watch for a yellow Mercer racing car," is the message dispatched by Sheriff Davis of Champaign county. Slowly but surely the trail of the yellow car for which Penman is alleged to have murdered young Shaw and buried his body on the Penman farm, is being picked up.
Sheriff Davis declared that he expected the fugitive will be arrested before night.

Because of the strong feeling Penman if captured and brought back will be shipped into town to avoid any trouble with Shaw's friends.

Coroner Hannore of Champaign county is holding an inquest over the body of Shaw. The verdict fore-casted is murder with a recommendation that Penman be held to the circuit court without bond.

Sheriff's deputies told of unearthing the body on the Penman farm, and said that the body might never have been found had not the mur-derer in his haste left the feet exposed. Newton Wimmer, a neighbor, testified that Penman borrowed a spade from at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and that when he returned it the blade was covered with fresh earth. The Illinois license number of the missing car is No. 13,599 and the Mercer factory number 514.

HEAT RECORDS BROKEN

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 13.—Kansas severe heat wave in 27 years. Extreme humidity and blistering winds have added to the discomfort. "Sunny Kansas" has lived up to her sobriquet.

VOTE IN THE CAUCUS FIGHT WITH MILITIA

WILSON'S STRENGTH FOR THE CURRENCY BILL TO RECEIVE SEVERE TEST IN DEMOCRATIC MEET

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Wilson's strength in support of the "administration" currency reform bill faced a decisive test today in the house democrats currency caucus, when actual voting upon amendments was to begin. Administration leaders were confident today that the bill as now drafted would be finally approved with little important amendment.

While the democratic caucus fight waged, minority leaders planned by republican currency caucus late this week, probably Saturday, when amendments will have returned. A joint currency caucus of republican senators and representatives is being considered.

According to reports received this morning the party will arrive on time. They will probably only stay a few minutes before continuing on their way to Winona, where they will spend the night.

GOVERNOR HASN'T MADE APPOINTMENT

Rumors that Holway Had Been Named Adjutant General Denied at Executive's Office

Governor Francis E. McGovern has not named Colonel Orlando Holway or anyone else adjutant general to succeed W. A. Boardman, resigned.

This was the information given to The Tribune today by Thomas Mahon, newly appointed legal adviser to the governor.

The story that had been spread in La Crosse and elsewhere about the state was that the dock strike at Superior had assumed proportions that might warrant the calling out of state troops.

"No appointment has been made," declared Thomas Mahon over the long distance telephone to The Tribune. "As far as I know there will be none made soon."

Mr. Mahon said that the governor's office had received no word from Superior that would indicate the situation there would warrant sending militia. News from Superior today indicates that the situation is well in control of the local authorities.

COPS EJECT DINERS FROM RESTAURANT

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Personal damage suits, injunctions, and all sorts of legal procedure were threatened today against Mayor Gaynor and the police department because of clearing out by policemen of Healy's restaurant, a few minutes after 1 a. m.

Seventy or eighty guests, many of them handsomely gowned women were ejected from the restaurant by policemen under Inspector Dwyer, who said he was enforcing the mayor's 1 a. m. closing order, and Mr. Thomas Healy and his guests declared that men and women were thrown out bodily.

Indignant waiters tried to make the policemen pay for the food that guests were compelled to leave unpaid for, but their demands were in vain. The guests were forced out without being given time to get their hats and wraps and the fifty policemen who made the raid refused to allow them to return for their property.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—That the democrats have full confidence in their ability to pass the tariff bill was indicated today when it became known that Senator Works of California, who left Washington did not "pair" before leaving.

Before his departure he told colleagues that if necessary he would return. He desired to take Mrs. Works home, as she has been in poor health.

Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, who is ill at home and Senator Fall of New Mexico, who has left the city, also are not paired. Whether any democrat will grant them this privilege is not yet determined.

PLAN WATER CARNIVAL

JANESVILLE, Wis., Aug. 13.—The program for the water carnival which will take place here August 17, was announced today. There are twenty events scheduled.

TRIO WANTED FOR GOTHAM MURDER

Girl and Two Youths Are Sought by Police Following Discovery of Rich Man's Body

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—A girl and two young men, the last person to rent the room in which the dead body of William G. Martin, a wealthy milliner of Toronto, Canada, was found, were being sought by the police today.

Two pairs of corsets and two hats from which all identification marks had been cut, were in the room in which Martin was found murdered, with his hands tied behind him and a rubber gas tubing and a towel stuffed into his mouth, giving the appearance of suicide.

Investigation disclosed the fact that two young men and a girl, the oldest man 22, who represented that the girl was his wife, and the other young man his brother, rented the room on August 7 and that the landlord was going to order them to leave when he found Martin's body, partly dressed on the bed. The suicide theory was discarded when it was found that several hundred dollars of jewels and money were missing, and that it would have been physically impossible for a man intending to suicide to tie himself as the Martin body was found tied.

Confirmation of the story today. Senator Palmer said:

"Last night I could not say anything beyond referring all inquiries to Mrs. Sulzer. This was because the governor had requested me not to repeat what she told me, declaring that he did not care to have his wife used as a shield against impeachment. The story having been told, there can be no harm in confirming it."

"Will Mrs. Sulzer be a witness on the impeachment trial?" he was asked.

"I understand she will," was his reply. "In fact she will have to."

"Do you understand, senator, that she claims to have signed the governor's name to all the checks used in the Wall Street transactions?"

Senator Palmer replied: "She told me that, or that is the way I understand it. Mrs. Sulzer looks on her husband as a mere child so far as household finances are concerned. The governor has not idea of the value of money and she understood this."

At the executive mansion it was stated that Mrs. Sulzer was completely worn out by the strain she had been under and that nothing further could be expected from her today. She remained in her room.

Leader Levy made the comment that Mrs. Sulzer's confession looked like an eleventh hour attempt of a faithful wife to shield her husband.

ORDER REPAIRS ON CASS STREET

Following an inspection of Cass street yesterday afternoon by members of the council, the board of public works was instructed to repair the creosote block paving which has heaved as the result of the unusual rains and heat here.

The action will be authorized later at a special meeting of the council to be held next week.

City Engineer G. P. Bradish says the filling between the blocks is of poor material and that the water getting under the pavement results in the swellings that have spoiled portions of the street.

GILLIS TO BE TRIED EARLY IN SEPTEMBER

The case of Henry Gillis, due to be tried today on a statutory charge as the result of his wife's alleged suicide attempt in his apartments recently, was postponed until September 3 by County Judge John Brindley this morning. Mrs. Gillis, who is confined at the St. Francis hospital, is said to be recovering from her wounds.

That the governor would submit to what his adherents term "legislative lynch law" is thought unlikely. Sulzer is expected to resist suspension and to continue to occupy the executive office, issuing orders as governor. The lieutenant governor, Martin Glynn of Albany, will automatically become acting governor with the suspension of Sulzer, and should Sulzer decline to give way it was considered possible he might call out the state guard to protect his office.

Attorneys Favor Sulzer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Prominent attorneys in the house today expressed the opinion that Governor Sulzer cannot be impeached for personal acts committed before he became governor.

"The governor's privileges are based on the constitution," said Representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the foreign affairs committee and a leading constitutional lawyer of that body. "The legislature cannot add to or subtract any qualifications upon which impeachment proceedings can be brought."

Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York, another prominent lawyer, stated that it was a question whether the impeachment can lie for acts committed before Sulzer took the oath. He regarded the situation as extremely doubtful.

WIFE HELD FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Wanda De Latour, wife of Jan N. De Latour, a titled Austrian, whose death last Friday was attributed by the coroner's physician to poisoning, was this afternoon formally booked on the charge of murder after the police, earlier in the day, had indicated that they might release her from custody.

BARREL IS LACKING AND GIRL BATHER GOES HOME CLAD ONLY IN RAINCOAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Deep blushes mantled the cheeks of Miss May Leonard, a pretty society debutante, today, but she admitted without hesitation the truth of a story that she was compelled to walk from the Clarendon Bathing beach clad only in a raincoat, because someone stole her clothes.

"When I came out of the water and entered my locker, every blessed thing was gone," said Miss Leonard. "I whistled at one of the girls in the locker next to mine and asked if I couldn't borrow a petticoat."

"I'm sorry, my dear," she said, "but you know they're not wearing them this year."

Miss Leonard was in a predicament. She might have worn her bathing suit home, but she had "just dropped down to the beach" and it was rented. One of her girl friends told Edward Aker, her fiancé, of her plight. Aker made a hasty, unsuccessful search for the traditional barrel. It was not to be found. Then one of his friends volunteered the raincoat. Before Miss Leonard and her escort had walked many blocks, a kind autoist was appealed to and the remainder of the trip was made in comfort and haste.

tention, and the effect of the long uninteresting hours of filibustering disappeared as if by magic.

Senator Abram J. Palmer, to whom Mrs. William Sulzer made the startling announcement that she virtually was responsible so far as the use of the governor's campaign funds in buying stock was concerned, confirmed the story today. Senator Palmer said:

AMERICANS POUR OUT OF MEXICO

Leave on Every Steamer and U. S. Gains Strategic Position by the Exodus

CAN REMOVE EMBARGO ON ARMS

With U. S. Citizens Going

Administration Can Aid Rebels Without Endangering Americans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Americans are fleeing Mexico on every steamer. Advice to the state and navy departments today proved this conclusively. As a result this government is rapidly securing a decidedly strategic advantage. Should the mission of Special Envoy John Lind fail, and a majority of those in official life here believe it must, the embargo on arms for the insurgents can be removed without fear of bloody reprisals of innocent Americans.

The president and Secretary Bryan think Lind will be able to show Huerta how he can make important concessions to his enemies and still save his own face. If the Huerta following can be persuaded to fall in behind some leader who could command support among the better element among the constitutionalists then the election can proceed. And this government would not hesitate a second to recognize any Mexican president who could show a commission from the nation's electors.

CORN ESTIMATES TAKE BIG DROP

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Crop experts today cut the corn promise for the year to 2,350,000,000 bushels, the most radical estimate yet made of the great damage done by the recent drought.

Board of trade speculators agreed today that the damage to the Kansas and Oklahoma crop can not be repaired, and for that reason the continuation today of the southwestern drought almost ceased to be a factor in the grain market. The question now is whether the rains of the last few days have come in time to prevent a calamity to the crop in northern states.

Six weeks ago the estimate was for a crop of three billion bushels.

The opening bill is a three reel detective story of great merit entitled "The Peril of the Past," which will appeal to lovers of the sensational and unusual. The picture carries a powerful moral and contains many thrilling scenes.

LEFLEUR AND SMITH STILL UNDER BONDS

Elmer R. Lefleur and Henry Smith, the men who were occupying the rig that ran down and seriously injured Mrs. Henry Luedke several days ago, are still under bond. Their case was due to be tried this morning but was adjourned until August 27 pending the outcome of Mrs. Luedke's injuries.

To the surprise of her physicians Mrs. Luedke, who is 80 years of age, is recovering from her injuries. This is considered remarkable in view of the fact that her left arm was broken in two places and her left leg broken at the hip.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Corn prices held firm around top notch figures for the year at the close of the forenoon session today, in spite of general rains in the past twenty-four hours extending from Ohio and Nebraska.
Prices advanced 1/4c at the start, weakened, and then rallied late in the morning until September at noon was quoted at 72 1/2 to 73c and December at 67 1/2c. Drought conditions in Kansas and Oklahoma were unchanged.
Wheat showed early firmness with the Liverpool cable, but sagged a trifle when corn became easier. Toward noon there was another advance that brought options 3/4c above yesterday's closing figures.
Trade in oats was dull. The buying by traders who had an eye on the corn pit did not quite offset the selling and prices were a fraction under those at last night's close.
Provisions were quiet and weak, because of the large hog run and the break in hog prices.
Corn set a new 1913 record just before the close this afternoon, when September was quoted at 73 1/4c. At the close the September quotations were 73c.
Wheat and oats closed the day at about noon prices and on about a level with the opening quotations.
Provisions continued weak until the close.

LAJOIE IN MAJOR LEAGUES 17 YEARS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Napoleon Lajoie, second baseman of the Naps, yesterday celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of his entrance into the big leagues.

Lajoie made his debut as a first baseman, playing with the Philadelphia Nationals. Later he went to second base, where he found himself. He was a great batter from the start, and today seems as good as ever. Unofficial figures give him a batting average of .342. Many critics rate him the greatest batsman that ever lived.

During the war between the American and National leagues Lajoie came to Cleveland because of an injunction which prevented his playing in the state of Pennsylvania with the Philadelphia Americans, to which team he jumped from the Philadelphia Nationals.

Lajoie said yesterday that he will not quit playing baseball until they tear the uniform from his back.

Nearly everyone can do something pretty well; getting away is a Filipino's specialty.

RALLY WINS GAME FOR GRAND FORKS

Visitors Slam the Ball for Eight Runs in Sixth and Beat La Crosse, 8 to 6

HEAVY HITTING CHANGES RESULT

Colts Have Six Run Lead but Batting Bee Gives Grand Forks a Victory

A noisy rally by Grand Forks in the sixth yesterday after the locals seemingly had won their fourth straight game changed things completely and the visitors romped away with an 8 to 6 victory. Grand Forks counted all their runs in that sixth when thirteen men came to bat. Six hits, two errors and a pair of walks did the damage and turned defeat into victory.

The rally was as unexpected as it was fierce for up to the sixth Niedenfuer was in complete control of the situation and apparently had the westerners at bay. Although he was almost scored on once before, but four bingles had been made off his delivery and his teammates had given him a margin of six runs to work on so everybody was looking for a victory.

Niedenfuer Knocked Out

However, appearances proved deceitful for that one attack netted the visitors more than they needed to win. Before Niedenfuer knew what had happened five runs were spiked on the rubber and the bags were full. In this critical situation Niedenfuer was excused and Lizzette called on Mike Kramer to play the part of lifesaver. There was but one down at the time and the big twirler was not quite equal to the emergency. Before he could subdue the swatting visitors three more athletes crossed the counting station. However, Mike held the enemy down the rest of the way, but his team couldn't even it up, although they started a rally in the ninth without result.

Jarnigan was the slab choice of the opposition and the way he started out it looked as if the Colts would have a walkaway. They counted three in the first and followed with another trio in the fourth, but after that Jarnigan settled down and kept them away from the plate the rest of the way. The visiting slab artist was both wild and ineffective in the early stages of the game, but after the fourth only three of the Colts hit him safely.

Foster Heavy Hitter

S. Foster was the slugger of the day with four singles in five times up. Lizzette ran him a close race while Joe Safford was right behind them with a double and single in four tries.

The Colts started out with a rush and it looked as if they would knock out Jarnigan before he could retire the side. Thomas singled, stole second, took third when Stark's heave went to center and counted on De Rusha's safety after Dreis breezed. Safford hit a line drive to right center for two bags, advancing De Rusha to third. Both runners crossed the rubber when Stark was charged with two successive passed balls.

Colts Prevent Scores

Sharp fielding by the Colts was all that kept the visitors from scoring in the fourth. Altman blew open the stanza by working Niedenfuer for a pass. Chase soaked one right back at the pitcher who forced Altman at second and Dreis made a quick relay getting Chase. This was fortunate, for S. Foster singled and Bond followed with a double. The ball almost hit the fence but Thomas and Dreis made pretty throws and got Foster at the pan by a hair.

La Crosse apparently clinched the game in the fourth. Sutton was passed for a starter and three runs resulted on singles by Thomas, Safford and Hruska combined with Jarnigan's unsuccessful effort to force Sutton on a grounder.

Rally Nets Victory

The big doings were staged in the eighth. Jarnigan gave warning of what was coming by singling to open the round. Altman and Chase were walked, filling the corners. S. Foster singled, scoring two runs after which Bond flew out, but Dietrich

Watching The Scoreboard

The Giants gained half a game by nosing out the Dodgers while the Quakers were idle, and the Pirates climbed into third place when they defeated the Reds and the Cubs lost twice in a slugfest at Boston.

The Pirates got the jump on the Reds in the first inning when they made five hits off Brown and scored four runs.

The Giants devoted eleven innings to Brooklyn and used three pitchers but won when Ragon lost his grip in the eleventh. Fletcher connected for a homer.

Bodie made the circuit for Chicago when the White Sox beat the Athletics.

Boston got to four Cub pitchers for twenty-three hits in two games, winning both. Maranville got six hits in eight times up, while Connolly got five.

The Browns touched three Yankee pitchers for fourteen hits, winning 7 to 2. Maisel showed more quick thinking but he hasn't copped a basehit here yet.

SMITH OF DULUTH GOES TO TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 13.—"Sluggish" Smith, the leading clouter of the Northern league, has been purchased for the Mud Hens from Darby O'Brien's Duluth team. Smith will report here Friday. He will be assigned to the utility role.

Smith is hitting at a .342 clip in the Northern organization and is said to be a fast fielder and speedy base runner. Several major league clubs were after him, but the Mud Hen management had an option on one of O'Brien's athletes and picked Smith.
